

Companies need to realize that most consumers that are on the "Do-Not-Call" list will not buy from telemarketing firms and should save money and allow the WI statute to stand. We will not buy anything from any unsolicited phone call. If a company persists then we will discontinue to do business with that company and more people should do the same. Then maybe they will realize this is not the way consumers want to do business today. Let the Wisconsin stand the consumers of Wisconsin like it, business that doesn't hopefully will lose more business if they are successful and consumers say you call you lose!
